> ANNOUNCEMENTS DAVIS THEATRE.

In The Little 'Fraid Lady, her latest Robertson-Cole production, adapted from Marjorie Benton Cooke's popular novel, The Girl Who Lived in the Woods, Mae Marsh has a vehicle which allows her full scope for the expression of that whimsical charm which has made her one of most beloved figures on the silver sheet at the Davis theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The picture was directed sheet at the Davis theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The picture was directed by John G. Adold who recently added to his already envisible record by his direction of The Wonder Man, starring Georges Carpentier. An excellent cast appears in support of Miss Marsh, among whom are such dramatic character delineators as Tully Marshall, Kathleen Kirkham, Charles Mergdith, Herbert Prior, Greechen Hartman and George Bertholom, Jr.

Bertholom, Jr. The second feature in Annette Keller-san, the Diving Venus, as she is known and feature is Annette Keller

THE AETNA LIFE INSUBANCE

COMPANY. The Actna Life Insurance company and The Actna Life Insurance company and affiliated companies. The Actna Casuality and Surety company and The Automobile Insurance company, make an impressive showing in their annual statement printed in The Bulletin today, with total assets of $204.835,890, and total surplus to policyholders of $27,601,587. The assets of the parent company are $177,802,866 white the Casuality company has $15.441,165 and the Automobile comhas $15,441,105 and the Automobile com-pany $11,896,417. This great life insur-state insurance company has paid to policyholders $425,383,641 in seventy-one years.

The Actna Life insurance company, an outgrowth of the Actna (Fire), started its independent life in 1852 with a capi-tal of $150,000. It is interesting to note that its greatest percentage of growth oc-curred in the five years following the Civil war, when the assets jumped from $881,578 to $12,689,837. It is the expericance of all insurance companies so far making reports that in the last two years their growth has increased by leage and bounds, and it is certainly a fair assumption that for the next three years the growth of the Aetna Life and of all other life insurance companies will be on an extraordinarily large scale.

The Aetna Life insurance company has had only three presidents, Eliphalet A. Bulkeley, Thomas O. Enders and the Hen. Morgan G. Bulkeley, son of the first president, whose incumbency of the office ident, whose incumbency of the office dates back to 1839, when he was mayes of Hartford. The record of President Bulkeley of forty-one years of the mey-enty-one years of the company's exist-ence has been filled with achievement in many diversified lines, but in none more so than in the insurance company itself. The total income of the three Astna companies amounted last year to $57,-$54,448 there having been an increase. far as the parents company is concerned, of over $9,000,000 in premium income, $14,000,000 in assets, one and one-half was the huge sum of over $1,155,588.
